Title: A navigation system with a real-world-view

Abstract: It is not always easy to find an object on a map which corresponds with something in a real scene. This is one problem with the current generation of electronic navigation systems. We introduce a new system which gives users navigational information overlaid on a real-time video image of the current scene. The user can thus place navigational information into its...
